For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of b'lood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natura weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1817.

Maryland Legislature.

Annapolis, December 2.

A sufficient number of members appeared in the House of Delegates on Monday to form a quorum, but in consequence of the act to Suppress Duelling, (passed at last session) prescribing an additional oath to the old oath of qualification, which additional oath was deemed unconstitutional, the members present did not qualify, but adjourned until the next day, that farther time might be had to consider the subject. On Tuesday the opinion of Luther Martin, Esq. was communicated by letter to one of the Delegates, and after the members convened they determined to dispense with the additional oath, and qualified in the manner heretofore practised.

We have been politely favored with a copy of Mr. Martin's letter, which we here insert. It was written at the time of its date, but was not received by the gentleman to whom it was addressed until the day before-mentioned.

Baltimore, Nov. 24, 1817.

DEAR SIR,—I certainly would not wish to throw any obstacle in the way of any legislative provisions for the suppression or prevention of duelling; but so far as the law of last session requires, that the member chosen as a Representative shall be obliged to take the oath prescribed by that act, I think there can be no doubt but that the same is unconstitutional. The constitution has declared what are the qualifications which shall render a person eligible, and when duly elected, what oaths are to be taken by the member chosen, before he takes his seat. The additional oath required by the aforesaid law, has not the apology of having any relation to the peculiar duties which he owes to his country in his legislative character; nor to regulate his conduct while he sustains that character. If such a law can constitutionally be past, the legislature may, with as much propriety, enumerate every breach of the decalogue through all the subdivisions of each of the commandments, and compel each member, before he can serve his constituents, who have made him their choice, to bind himself by the solemn sanction of an oath, to live thereafter a life of sinless purity. Nor can I think it, even in a moral or religious point of view, correct, that such oaths should be taken; for although it is certainly a sacred duty to form the strongest resolutions against the violation of any duty which we owe to our God or our fellow-creature, and to solicit divine assistance to give us strength to keep such resolutions, yet I can scarcely believe the most pious divine would recommend to those under his charge to lay such a snare for their souls, as to bind themselves with an oath to keep them. And I can easily conceive that a man who would conscientiously desire to perform every duty might shrink, almost with horror, from placing himself in such a predicament, that if, through the weakness of human nature, he should violate his duty, he must thereby incur not only the guilt peculiar to the specific offence, but also stain his soul, in addition, with the guilt of perjury. And the more conscientious the person, the greater in all probability would be the reluctance.

Whether the Legislature, by merely passing a law, could constitutionally disable a man from being chosen a Delegate for having been guilty of sending a challenge, I think very doubtful. But in this case they have gone much further—they have declared a man to be ineligible, not for committing a crime, but because he may decline to bind himself under the sanction of an oath that he never will commit it; or, what amounts to the same, as to declare him ineligible; for it prohibits him from serving if elected.

I remain, dear sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

LUTHER MARTIN.

Milledgeville, Georgia, Nov. 25.

Of Gen. Gaines, and his contemplated expedition against the Florida Indians, nothing has been heard since our last.—The drafted militia from this state, destined to co-operate in the enterprize, will rendezvous at Fort Hawkins on Monday next, and be marched from thence without delay. Gen. Thomas Glascock, has been appointed by the governor to command them.

A further requisition of five hundred men, to be detailed (from Gen. Floyd's division in the lower part of the state) and held in readiness for active service, has just been made on our executive by the general government. Whether this additional force, for the immediate organization of which orders have been given, is intended to co-operate with General Gaines in chastising the neighboring hostile Indians, or to aid in the accomplishment of some ulterior object, of deep interest to Georgia, subsequent events will, probably, soon determine.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1817.

LOSS OF THE U. S. BRIG BOXER.

Balize, Oct. 30, 1817.

Messrs. Lang, Turner & Co.

I regret exceedingly it should be my lot to communicate the loss by shipwreck of the U. S. brig Boxer, under my command. In endeavoring on the evening of the 25th inst. at 10 P. M. to proceed up to the Balize, she grounded in fourteen feet water, off the South Pass of the Mississippi River, where she bilged and filled shortly after, in despite of every attempt to save her. All the public property of consequence, that could be saved, was taken out before she went to pieces, which was in little more than 24 hours after.—She was so entirely decayed, and so completely rotten, that though almost a calm, she convinced us that it was a providential escape, as she must have been a coffin for us all. Some of her timbers and other parts of her have been preserved as curiosities.

I wish you to publish this letter to relieve the minds of our friends, who will be anxious to hear of our having survived. Our sufferings have been great, but we have borne them patiently; no sickness has taken place in consequence among the crew. I remain, respectfully, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

JNO. PORTER.

P. S. Where she first touched was soft muddy bottom, on which the most ordinary merchant vessel would have stood, without injury, the thumping for days.—Nor is it thought extraordinary for a vessel to be on the hard bar of the Mississippi for several days without being hurt.

[New-York Gazette.

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.

Extract of a letter from the house of Collings & Mainy, dated

ROTTERDAM, Oct. 1, 1817.

"It is now confidently expected that during the sessions of the states general now about to take place, the Tea trade will again be thrown open—and it would seem that government have been acting in anticipation of this measure, since no licences have been granted for importations beyond the quality that may be wanted for the ensuing sale in November, and that to follow in the spring."

Washington, December 5.

OFFICIAL.

The President has appointed Cæsar Augustus Rodney, John Graham & Theodorick Bland, Esquires, Commissioners of the United States to South America.

Boston, November 27.

In the Four Sisters, arrived at Gloucester, from St. Michaels and Terceira, came passenger captain Adams, of Orleans, late first officer of the barque Flying Fish, of this port. Captain A. has obligingly favored us with the following minutes:

He sailed from Callao, Chili, April 26, passenger in the Spanish brig Santa Christa, of Lima, captain Dominico, bound to Cadiz; on the 1st Sept, in sight of St. Mary's, she was captured by the privateer brig Tupacamaro, and ordered for Buenos Ayres. The Santa Christa was coppered to the bends, had 2 guns and 20 men; her cargo consisted of 50 tons of copper, about 175 do. cocoa, 300 bales cotton, 16 sacks Peruvian bark; and 40,000 dollars in specie; she also had 10,000 dollars private property—all the money was taken out and immediately shared among the officers and crew. Mr. M'Fadan, second lieutenant of the privateer, was put on board as prize master.—All the crew of the Spaniard were taken on board the Tupacamaro, except two, who entered for her, and went to the River of Plate in the prize. The Santa Christa was formerly the ship Lavina, of Philadelphia, sold to the British, who disposed of her to the present owners (before her capture) in 1815 at Rio Janeiro. On board the brig they had no suspicion of the Tupacamaro being a privateer, until she had ranged alongside, she having had all her ports shut, &c. and English colors hoisted. There were two Spanish gentlemen passengers in the Santa Christa, viz: colonel Manuel Baranen, a distinguished officer in the Royal army, and lieutenant Stibens, a land officer in the Patriot service, on his way to Spain for trial, having been made prisoner by the Royalists. They proceeded in the brig to Buenos Ayres. The Santa Christa, previous to her capture, had spoken only one vessel, the American schooner Eliza, bound to Teneriffe. The privateer mounted 12 guns, 10 twelve pound gunades, but carrying a 21 pound shot, and two very small pieces, and had a crew of 94 men when she left the River la Plata, 52 days before. She had only arrived off St. Mary's 6 days previous, and had captured no other vessel previous to Sept. 15; on the night of which captain Adams was put on shore, with all the Spanish prisoners, at St. Mary's, Western Islands, by the brig's boats. While on board the Tupacamaro, she spoke and boarded only two vessels, a Norwich ship from Liverpool for Savannah, and a French schooner from L'Orient for St. Thomas. A few days before the privateer had been chased by a 74 and two frigates, and she narrowly escaped from the latter by aid of her sweeps. The Tupacamaro was formerly the Regent, of Baltimore, and is the same privateer which took the Triton, Spanish Indiaman. The following are the names of the officers: Livingston Shannon, of New-York, commander; Mr. Sheffield, of Connecticut, 1st lieut.; Mr M'Fadan, 2d do; Mr. Sauchez, (a Chilian) 3d do; Mr. Honour, sailing master; Mr. Courtney, captain's clerk; Mr. Edwards, boatswain, &c. Mr. John Fellows, of Stonington, was commandant of marines.—Mr. Sauchez was 3d officer of the Triton at the time of her capture, and afterwards turned Patriot. About 60 of the brig's crew were supposed to be Americans—the remainder were of eight or ten different nations. Several of the officers were Englishmen and Irishmen. The brig had boarded several Portuguese vessels, but the captain's orders forbid his molesting them. He was likewise not to carry into an American port any officer of prize or passenger found on board of them. Captain Adams received very polite and gentlemanly treatment from captain Shannon and his officers, but the crew of the privateer stripped him of every thing he had, even to his shirt. He acknowledges with gratitude the kind affectionate treatment of the American consul at St. Michael's, and from the inhabitants of the islands. The Spanish colonel, captured in the brig, was also treated with great kindness on board the privateer. Capt. Adams was informed at St. Mary's that the crew of the Santa Christa made 87 prisoners, who had been landed there within two months. A detachment of men from two small privateer schooners, one with no topsails, had landed at St. Mary's, and had plundered the houses and church, but the militia collected and drove them off.

Captain Adams received a letter at Callao from an American, Mr. J. W. who was a prisoner in the Spanish dungeons. It was dated April 18, 1817.

Cabin passengers in the Four Sisters, besides captain Adams, Mr. J. Waller, lady and children, captain Everett and son, and Mr. Kirkpatrick, and a number in the steerage. They were all passengers in the brig Ann, from Ireland for Quebec, lost at St. Michaels.

PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE.

Paris, September 14.

My first attention, on my arrival here, was to deliver the boxes of minerals, letters, &c. with which I had the honor of being entrusted. Professor Hairy lives in the "Jardin du Roi," or, as we call it, "The Garden of Plants," where I found him in his cabinet. He received me with great kindness, seemed highly delighted with the presents, for which he expressed his deepest acknowledgments, and broke forth in an eulogium on American literature; after which I left him, to examine some of the curiosities, to which he honored me with a ticket of admittance. His person is small, but his appearance uncommonly venerable—far advanced in years, he begins to experience the decrepitude of old age. But he still continues indefatigable in his philosophical researches, and unremitted in his invaluable instructions to his numerous pupils. As you venerate the grandeur of superior intellect—as you admire the splendor of extensive and useful acquirements—venerate and admire them all in your illustrious friend, the Abbe. Endowed with every qualification of the head, and every good quality of the heart, he is at once a model of the greatest learning and of the most uncorrupted worth and excellence. He is shortly to publish a work on gems—a great consideratum. This reminds me of a recent anecdote, and which speaks the man—A Russian nobleman, possessed of two elegant and singular chrystals, almost unique in their kind, was desirous of transmitting them to the Abbe. He executed his wishes through the medium of the Russian envoy at Paris, and accompanied them with a polite note, in which he begged him to accept the two diamonds, &c. Upon the receipt thereof, the Abbe observed that it was a mistake—that they were not diamonds. "A mistake—not diamonds?" reiterated the envoy with astonishment. "But, sir, (added he) the mistake shall be rectified—you shall not be a loser." "Ah! pardon me," interrupted the Abbe, with all the classic simplicity of a Roman worthy, "these simple gems are to me of more inestimable value than the most costly diamonds." This served to calm the scrupulous concern of the scientific ambassador.

Religion here is at a low ebb, although the revulsion from atheism, even to fanaticism, has been proved by the history of the world not to be uncommon. The clergy, too, are also much favored by the monarch, and we should, therefore, suppose that the exertions of the former would soon render the punctual attendance on divine worship familiar to the people. This, however, has not been effected here, even in spite of one of the strongest propensities of our nature. For as religion is as yet new to the French, what is more natural than that they should be universally attracted by this novelty? It is true, indeed, that every day one may see in almost all the churches a number of beggars, old women and children; upon particular festival days, numbers of well dressed people may be seen in the act of devotion, tumultuously assembled together from curiosity and the love of show. But, generally, the Sabbath in Paris, can only be considered as a day of dissipation to the gay, and of unusual profits to the avaricious shop-keepers. Many of the churches have been much defaced by the revolution, but have generally withstood the assailing storm, like the holy cause to which they were consecrated. In spite of all the devastations of atheistic vandalism, they are elevating their meek but magnificent heads above their enemies, mildly ready to receive them into their bosoms, still disfigured with the traces of blood and barbarous ferocity.

There is English preaching here every Sunday, which makes me feel as if in America; and there is also a Lutheran church here—L'Englise des Billettes.

The English here are hated and detested; and the Americans have to employ every artifice to distinguish themselves from them, in order to avoid constant insults and mortifications which the former have to endure.

FROM THE RICHMOND ENQUIRER.

Sketches of the life and character of Patrick Henry. Printed at Philadelphia, pp. 427.

Towards the conclusion of his ninth section, our author has given us several amusing anecdotes of the powers of Mr. Henry at the bar, "in the comic line." They serve to shew the versatility of his talents, by which he could at pleasure convulse his audience with laughter, or dissolve them into tears. Indeed, he seems to have had a most perfect control of their feelings, and to have been able to excite passions of the most opposite nature, in the shortest possible time, by the witchery of his almost supernatural eloquence.

He closes this section with the following observations:

"It was in the year 1791, that he [Mr. Henry] bade a final adieu to his profession and retired to the bosom of his own family. He retired loaded with honors, public and professional—and carried with him, the admiration, the gratitude, the confidence and the love of his country. No man had ever passed through so long a life of public service, with a reputation more perfectly unspotted. Nor had Mr. Henry on any occasion sought security from censure by that kind of prudent silence and temporizing neutrality, which politicians so frequently observe. On the contrary his course had been uniformly active, bold, intrepid and independent. On every great object of public interest, the part which he had taken was open, decided, manly; his country saw his motives, heard his reasons, approved his conduct, rested upon his virtue, and his vigor, and contemplated with amazement the evolution and unremitted display of his transcendant talents. For more than thirty years he had now stood before that country—open to the scrutiny and the censure of the invidious—yet he retired, not only without spot or blemish, but with all his laurels blooming full and fresh upon him—followed by the blessings of his almost adoring countrymen, and cheered by that most exquisite of all earthly possessions—the consciousness of having in deed and in truth, played well his part. He had now too, become disembarrassed of debt—his fortune was affluent...and he enjoyed in his retirement, that ease and dignity, which no man ever more richly deserved."

In the beginning of the tenth section, we are introduced to a more intimate knowledge of Mr. H's private character than our author had before had an opportunity of imparting. Hitherto we have seen him the leader of a popular assembly, the ornament of a liberal profession, or the political head of a great and powerful state, in all the blaze of public life—covered with the veil of official rank. Now we accompany him to his own home, amidst the circle of his friends—in the bosom of his family—throwing aside the caution and reserve of station, and discharging with a noble simplicity the social and domestic duties. In this new light, if he is not so brilliant, he is at least as attractive.

We see him under his large walnut tree, "under whose shade it was his delight to pass his summer evenings, surrounded by his affectionate and happy family, and by a circle of neighbors who loved him almost to idolatry. Here he would sport himself with all the careless gaiety of infancy.—Here, too, he would sometimes warm the bosoms of the old, and strike fire from the eyes of his younger hearers, by recounting the tales of other times; by sketching with the boldness of a master's hand, those great historic incidents in which he had borne a part; and by drawing to the life, and placing before his audience, in colors as fresh and strong as those of nature, the many illustrious men in every quarter of the continent, with whom he had acted a part on the public stage. Here too, he would occasionally discourse with all the wisdom and all the eloquence of a Grecian sage, of the various duties and offices of life; and pour forth those lessons of practical utility, with which long experience and observation had stored his mind."

"But (continues our author) it was in the bosom of his own family, where the eye of every visitor and even every neighbor was shut out—where neither the love of fame nor the fear of censure, could be suspected of throwing a false light upon his character—it was in that very scene in which it has been said that "no man is a hero," that Mr. Henry's heroism shone with the most engaging beauty. It was to his wife, to his children, to his servants, that his true character was best known; to this grateful, devoted, happy circle, were best known the patient and tender forbearance, the kind indulgence, the forgiving mildness and sweetness of his spirit, those pure and warm affections, which were always looking out for the means of improving their felicity, and that watchful prudence and circumspection, which guarded them from harm. What can be more amiable than the playful tenderness with which he joined in the sports of his little children, and the boundless indulgence with which he received and returned their caresses? "His visitors," says one of my correspondents, "have not unfrequently caught him lying on the floor, with a group of these little ones climbing over him in every direction, or dancing around him with obstreperous mirth, to the tune of his violin, while the only contest seemed to be, who made the most noise." If there be any bachelor so cold of heart as to be offended at this anecdote, I can only remind him of the remark of the great Agesilaus to the friend who found him riding on a stick among his children, "don't mention it, till you are yourself a father."

The narrative of these and similar traits of character, brings us more nearly acquainted with the personage described, and enables us to form a much more correct judgment of him, than the mere history of his public life. Descriptions of person—anecdotes of peculiarities—accounts of manners—furnish us indeed with the means of acquiring those distinct ideas of individuality which we are so anxious to form of the great men who have enchanted us by their eloquence—instructed us with their wisdom, or dazzled by their splendid and glorious achievements. No one has ever favored us with such means for forming an opinion of the REAL character of "the father of his country;" and we regret to say that too little seems to have been known or recollected of Mr. Henry, to enable our author to give us perfect satisfaction, on this part of his subject. The materials he possessed he has indeed used most judiciously, and has filled up the chasm with general observations and descriptions, which although they are not so satisfactory as particular anecdotes and incidents, are yet highly interesting.

Our author next attempts to vindicate the character of Mr. Henry from the well known charge of apostacy, which was made against him for the part he took in the political feuds of 1798. In this we think he has completely succeeded—for whatever may have been the errors of his opinions, we see not the least reason to accuse him of change or tergiversation. Mr. Henry might very consistently have continued to think that the Federal constitution gave too extensive powers to the general government; and yet that in a particular case its authority had not been exceeded, and so long as it existed ought to be obeyed. Thus he certainly tho't the British treaty a very bad one, and in convention he had denounced the clause conferring the treaty-making power on the president and senate alone; but his objections being overruled, and he having pledged himself to yield to the will of a majority, it furnished no just reason of charging him with apostacy, that he was in favor of submitting to that treaty after it had been sanctioned by the proper authority. His own views on this subject are fully developed in a letter to his daughter Mrs. Aylett, to be found in page 385 of the work.

In 1796 he was for the third time elected Governor of the state, but promptly declined the honor, on account of his years and infirmities. For the same reason he refused the embassy to Spain, which was offered him during the first administration, and that to France during the second.

In the spring election of 1799, he presented himself in Charlotte county as a candidate for the house of delegates for the avowed purpose of opposing the celebrated resolutions of the Virginia assembly of the year before, in relation to the alien and sedition laws.

"On the day of his election (says our author) as soon as he appeared on the ground, he was surrounded by the admiring and adoring crowd, and whithersoever he moved, the concourse followed him. A preacher of the Baptist Church, whose piety was wounded by this homage paid to a mortal, asked the people aloud, "why they thus followed Mr. Henry about? Mr. Henry," said he "is not a God!" "No," said Mr. Henry, deeply affected both by the scene and the remark —"no, indeed, my friend, I am but a poor worm of the dust—as fleeting and unsubstantial as the shadow of the cloud that flies over your fields and is remembered no more." The tone with which this was uttered, and the look which accompanied it, affected every heart, and silenced every voice. Envy and opposition were disarmed by his humility; the recollection of his past services, rushed upon every memory, and he 'read his history' in their swimming eyes."

Before the polls were opened, he addressed the people in a speech, the substance of which our author has given, and he subjoins this remark:

"Such was the last effort of Mr. Henry's eloquence; the power of the noon day sun was gone; but its setting splendors were not less beautiful and touching. After this speech, the polls were opened; and he was elected by his usual commanding majority." (To be continued.)

Public Sale.

WILL be sold, on the premises, on the 26TH DECEMBER, inst. if fair, if not, the next fair day, the FARM on which I live, situate in Fairfax county, on the head waters of Difficult Run, two miles northwest of Fairfax court house, and within one mile of the Little River Turnpike road. The Farm contains upwards of 200 acres, the largest portion in wood; the cleared land well taken with clover and timothy, except what is sown in small grain. The improvements are a large and convenient frame Dwelling-House, with all necessary out buildings. Attached to the farm are a Grist and Saw Mill, Miller's house, Cooper's house and shop, etc. There is in the mill, a Wool Carding Machine, and the neighborhood affords a good run of custom for grinding and carding both. There is also with this property a new Stone Distillery, 36 feet square, supported by a never failing spring of water.

At the same time, I will also sell my stock of Cattle, Sheep and Hogs, a good road Waggon, and 2 or 3 Horses, a horse and ox Cart, all my Farming Utensils, Household and Kitchen Furniture, etc. And, as I am not disposed to part man and wife, I shall probably sell four or five Slaves. The terms will be made known on the day of sale, which will commence at 10 o'clock, and continue from day to day until all is sold. AMOS FOX.

N. B. The Farm, Mill and Distillery, will be sold together, or separate, to suit purchasers. A clear and indisputable title will be made to the property, on the terms of sale being complied with, and immediate possession given. A. F.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

sept. 29 EDGAR M'CARTY.

A valuable Farm for Sale.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry—Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Public Sale.

IN pursuance of the authority vested in us by a deed of trust, bearing date 3d day of Aug. 1814, from James Deneale, of Prince William county, for the benefit of the Mechanics' Bank of Alexandria, and at the request of the president and directors of the said bank, we shall, for the purpose of raising the sum of eight thousand seven hundred dollars, with interest thereon from the 20th day of Dec. in the year 1816, and the expences of the sale, sell at public sale, for ready money to the highest bidder, at the court house in Dumfries, on the first Monday in Jan. next, the following property in the county of Prince William: a water Grist Mill, on Quantico creek, and ten acres of land adjoining thereto, near the town of Dumfries, known by the name of Deneale's Mill, and all implements and appurtenances thereto belonging. Also, one other piece of land and water grist mill adjoining the above on Quantico creek—Also, one and one half acre of land formerly known by the name of the Saw Mill Tract and to include the Saw Mill and improvements.

Those who are disposed to purchase may view the property before the day of sale.

The subscribers selling as trustees will convey no other right than that which they hold as trustees, not meaning to make themselves personally responsible for the title. ROBT. YOUNG, P. TRIPLETT.

November 19 ts

Lawnville for Sale.

THE subscriber will sell at public sale, on the premises, on the 10th of December next, the above TRACT of LAND, containing between five and six hundred acres, lying in the county of Prince William, Virginia. This desirable farm is situate within four miles of the two large western turnpike roads, leading from Washington and Alexandria; from whence it is distant thirty miles.

The highly improved state of this farm, its contiguity to market, salubrity of air, agreeable and genteel society, render it one of the most desirable pieces of property ever offered for sale in this part of the country. There is on this farm every convenience: an excellent barn, good stables, an orchard of peach and apple trees, not equalled by any in its vicinity, and as well if not better watered than any of the neighboring farms. One third of the purchase money will be required down, the balance in two equal annual instalments with interest. Negroes will be equally acceptable as cash. The subscriber will be on the farm and will shew it to any person desirous of purchasing.

N. B. One third is in woods of large and valuable timber.

Land for Sale.

BY virtue of an order from Charles County Court, will be sold to the highest bidder, on the premises, on the 24th day of December next, if fair, otherwise the first fair day thereafter; the whole of the REAL ESTATE of Walter Brook, sen. deceased, situate in Charles County, Durham Parish, and binding on the Potomac river at that well known place Brook's ferry, opposite the mouth of Quantico Creek. This farm contains about 330 acres, and is well adapted to the culture of indian corn, rye, oats, cotton and tobacco, and a part of it very good for wheat. The advantages from the water are also very great, there being a very good herring and shad fishery, and in their season fish and fowl of almost every kind. The improvements are a good dwelling house with three rooms on a floor, and several other necessary outhouses. The terms are, three equal payments at six, twelve & eighteen months, the purchasers giving bond with approved security on interest from the day of sale. The sale to commence at 12 o'clock.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called NED MCRAE alias SHRAWING. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose: had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with cloathing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber. DAVID BARCLAY.

N. B. Masters of vessels and others, are cautioned against harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow, under penalty of the law.

John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitini or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stege of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of b'ood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
